Dear Mr Arguto,

My mailing address is 55 McCann Drive Ottsville PA 18942. I am attaching a self explanatory correspondence between myself and Scott Perry, PA DEP Oil and Gas. Please look at the DEP water testing results for Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy water, and tell me HYPOTHETICALLY how the EPA would interpret the test results. I have several questions about the DEP analysis: there is no standard for ETHYLBENZADELHYDE, BENZALDEHYDE, BENZOIC ACID or T-BUTYL ALCOHOL in drinking water, so all three compounds present in Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy well water are just overlooked. Why is the question not asked....why are these chemicals in his well water? I do believe they may be indicative of frack fluid in his well water. Does this mean if for instance d-lysergic acid were found in the drinking water and there is no MCL standard that too would be overlooked? Are PA state drinking water standards the same as Federal EPA standards? The presence of acetone, which is a fracking chemical, is simply explained as contamination. What if there were acetone from frack fluid in his well water and perhaps contamination from sloppy lab quality control? Having worked in clinical pathology, quality control was essential for accuracy and precision. Should this analysis have been repeated to remove any contamination from the trip blank to report a correct result for acetone in this man's drinking water? Personally, if my well contained ethylbenzene, benzaldehyde, benzoic acid, acetone and TBA.....I would NOT drink, shower, or use the water no matter what PA DEP said. This disabled odler man was told by DEP his water was safe to drink in effect. He was not provided a water buffalo. My well water in Susquehanna Co is squeaky clean per my legal chain of custody predrill data.

Thanks For Your Time,
Rebecca Roter

Rebecca;

I have an e-mail dated 3/3/2011 that is titled " An Open Letter to Those it may Concern" Would it be OK if I responded to that e-mail with the mailing address that you provided below?

If you had sent several e-mails I could copy the e-mail that I have and send it to you

Thanks

Dear Mr Arguto,

Which question are you referring to? I asked several!

Dear Ms. Roter

EPA Region III is in receipt of your question regarding the Susquehanna watershed that was sent to Administrator Jackson on March 3. In order to reply could you please forward a mailing address so that we can respond via an EPA letter.

Thank you for forwarding these issues
